

Audiology Visit

Boy Version

My Hospital Story

Boston Children's Hospital

June 2016

I am going to have my hearing checked.

First, we will go to the Audiology Clinic.

I will wait in the waiting room with Mom or Dad.

I might get to watch TV.

I might look at a book.

When the audiologist calls my name we will say “hi.”

We will walk to the sound booth. It is a quiet room with a big door.

We will walk into the sound booth. There are chairs and a big window in one of the walls.

The audiologist will check my ears. It doesn't hurt.

Mom or Dad will stay with me the whole time.

The audiologist will look in my ear with a flashlight.

The audiologist will put a soft ear pillow in my ear.
It doesn't hurt. It will draw a picture. It is quick. I can remember to stay still.

I will need to go to the other side of the sound booth to play some listening games.

The audiologist will tell me what to do when I hear a sound.

I might put a block in a box or I might look at where I hear the sound. When I look I might see a funny toy.

I might get to listen with earphones or a shiny headband.

I might get to listen to music with a soft ear pillow.

When I am all done, the audiologist will talk to my Mom or Dad and tell them what a good job I did. I can play with some toys while I wait.

We will say goodbye to the audiologist. I might get a sticker at the front desk if I want one.
